34th ISO SEMINAR

The Chairman this year is José Orive, Executive Director of the International Sugar Organization since 2014. José has an extensive knowledge of all things sucro-energetic and a passion for the sector and what it can bring to a changing and demanding world. The innovations in the sugar world in the last few decades have been dramatic and challenging for the many millions of people, at all levels, engaged in the industry worldwide. The International Sugar Organization has worked hard to embrace these changes, bringing them to the attention of our Members as well as defending the sector from many spurious and negative attacks, especially in recent years. José's vast experience means that he has been able to attract world renowned speakers from both long-established, prestigious companies, as well as giving a platform to newcomers.

This year's seminar, the ISO's 34th, looks set to be as successful as all the previous ones and will once again bring a registration list together of top-notch leaders in our sector from every continent and every area involved with sugar, from politicians to farmers to financiers and industry. We look forward to welcoming back many of our friends and colleagues and to seeing new faces.

Interpretation will be available in English, French, Portuguese and Spanish.
